

SHIPIBO FAMILY

Jeff's journey led him to Peru where he studied with various Amazonian Shipibo shaman. There he experienced a profound connection with the universal healing intelligence and made history in 2012 by becoming the first foreigner to be adopted by an indigenous family in Peru. Jeff was gifted with the teachings of rituals, tribal mysticism, and inter-dimensional healing energy by his father (a Toê Shaman, pictured above along with his mother) and brother-in-law (an Ayahuasca Shaman). In 2015 they officially recognized Jeff as a shaman. Jeff brings Shipibo shamanic arts for resale in the US, which provides fair-trade income to these amazing artisans.

"Jeff Crawford has changed my life. Five years ago I survived a cerebral disabling left side paralysis. A yoga friend recommended Jeff. I wasted no time in going for a session. After session three, I stand unassisted for 13 minutes in my yoga class! I have more energy and less pain. It's a truly transformative type of healing, like nothing I have ever experienced." Pam L., Nashville TN

"Jeff Crawford is the real deal. You enter a palpably judgement free zone the minute you meet Jeff. If you're fortunate enough to hear anything about what he's personally been through, and the work he's done to go from survive to thrive, you cannot help but put your full trust in his knowledge and care. ...His abilities will make a difference for you! The Tarot workshop I participated in with Jeff was stellar. His command and intuitive capacity with it is simply astonishing. And there's no unnecessary woo-woo, no "window-dressing". He teaches you to develop an intuitive and highly personal way of using the Tarot. He's so good my wife decided to work with him more intensely as a mentor. Jeff is a modern Shaman supreme." -Chris Hancock, LCSW Nashville
